

Oriol Casagran is a biotechnologist with more than 15 years of experience in the biotechnology / pharmaceutical industry. He has a bachelor's degree in Biotechnology and a Master's Degree in Genetics from the University of Pompeu Fabra. Specialized in the management of clinical diagnostic laboratories. Multi-disciplinary technical knowledge: coordination of a laboratory team, analytical validation of lab protocols (qPCR, NGS and microarray), management of routine laboratory activities, coordination of manufacturing projects (IVD kits), Quality System (ISO-13485, ISO-15189, CLIA) assurance.

He is working at Revvity as product NGS specialist interacting with customers and working in coordination with commercial, marketing and development teams. He is based in Barcelona (Spain). Prior to his current position he has been working as Operations and Technical Director, Lab Manager and Genomic Service Manager in companies such as Oryzon Genomics, Ferrer inCode and GENinCode.